

João Miguel Cordeiro da Cruz

João Miguel Cordeiro da Cruz is an architect graduated from the Faculty of Architecture, Technical University of Lisbon.

He currently works in the Technical Services of Metropolitano de Lisboa, after serving as Senior Architect at the Lisbon City Council's Inspection Division.

He has extensive international experience in public transport projects, including the São Paulo Monorail (Brazil), the Algiers Metro (Algeria), and feasibility studies for the Arequipa Metro (Peru), having also collaborated with architectural studios and consultancy firms in Portugal and Spain.

His professional background covers the design of public facilities, construction supervision, and coordination of major urban transport projects.